

CHILD CARE

In spite of government claims of making record investments in child care, very little has changed for parents on the ground. New Brunwickers are looking to elect candidates who propose solutions, not slogans, when it comes to child care.

The provincial government must invest their child care dollars in ways that:

lower parent fees
reduce wait lists, especially for infants raise educators' wages and training

HELP WANTED

NB voters are seeking to elect MLAs who will commit to:

invest in a publicly funded child care system
set and deliver on annual targets to lower fees, raise staff wages and training and build community spaces

Interested candidates have up until September 27 to submit their credentials to voters
Term of employment is 4 years
